PLAYTIME!

Ultimately the most important aspect of home learning is play and interaction with your child. Whilst teachers will be providing links to lessons and assigned activities, please ensure your child has lots of time to play throughout the day. Exercise is so important for young children and a key part of their development so please ensure they have lots of breaks and movement throughout their remote learning day! They can help with household chores, wash dishes, hover carpet, go shopping and even walk the dog! These are all great ways to encourage social interaction along with physical development.
